The solutions to be discussed have the promise to transform approaches to creating safer, more navigable streets and reducing crashes, fatalities, and injuries.

Attendance is free, but please RSVP to help plan for the number of participants. Also, share this invitation with your networks, neighborhood associations, non-profits, and any groups you're involved with that could benefit from this important discussion.

Rain, Rain, Ride Anyway.

The rainy season in Sacramento is in full force. This doesn't mean you need to put your bikes away until sunnier weather returns. Here are some tips and tricks that make biking in the rain more approachable.

1. Don't ride in severe weather if it isn't safe for you.
2. Dress for success.
3. Use the right gear.
4. Avoid slick surfaces like paint striping.
5. Don't ride through standing water.
6. Adjust braking.
7. Be seen by using lights.
8. Maintain your bike.
